Transit Manager's Report to Transit Advisory Committee

Ridership on Petaluma Transit provided 28,820 rides in May 2024 compared to 21,636 rides provided in May 2023 a 33% ridership increase.

Ridership on Petaluma Paratransit service provided 896 rides in May 2024 compared to 704 in May 2023, an increase of 27%.

Electric Bus Purchase

Council approved the purchase of the first four battery electric, zero-emission transit buses for the City of Petaluma in December 2023.

In the interim, staff has started creating a training plan for all staff to be able to operate the electric buses upon their arrival. This includes training for drivers, mechanics and other staff towards the operations and maintenance of the buses. Electrical upgrades for the bus maintenance shop are also being identified in advance of the buses arrival.

All specs for the buses have now been finalized as of July 2024 and buses continue on schedule to begin production in November 2024. The vehicles are estimated for delivery in February 2025.

Transit Facility Electrification

Design work continues for the infrastructure improvements to the Petaluma Transit Operations Yard (555 N. McDowell Blvd). Design work for the project continues prior to the project being issued for bid in the latter half of 2024. This includes creating design plans for the improvements in advance of a bid for proposals anticipated to occur in fall 2024. The City anticipates taking a two-phase approach to the project due to fiscal constraints and needing to identify additional funding to complete a second phase of the project. The first project phase will include trenching and the installation of five power cabinets, five dual-plug chargers, electric switchgear, and associated components (cabling, conduits, etc.). The second project phase will purchase and install additional power cabinets and chargers to be able to charge a fully electric bus fleet by 2030. 30% design plans have now been finalized for the project. 90% design plans are currently being created for the project and purchase of the Chargepoint bus chargers (approved by Council in FY24) is being executed. Final design plans will be completed in Q3 2024.

Infrastructure improvements are scheduled to be completed in Q4 2024 in advance of the buses arriving and being placed into service in Q1 2025.

Paratransit Evaluation and Programs

Staff continues to self-administer the paratransit evaluation process. Recent highlights of the paratransit evaluation process include:

- Staff Received and processed 8 applications for June 2024
- Staff mailed out 14 Eligibility reminder letters for June 2024

The average number of processing days in June (from when a fully completed application is received to when its processed) was seven days (the Federal Transit Administration requires processing of applications within 21 days).

Fare Free Update

Petaluma Transit launched its Fare-Free Program on Monday, July 1! Staff provided press and community outlets with a press release, FAQ and images from the first day of fare-free service. Multiple, local press covered the story and the response has been a positive one.

Why is this story newsworthy? Petaluma Transit is the first transit agency in the Bay Area and only second in the state of California to launch a full transit network including paratransit services in their fare-free offering! In addition, Petaluma Transit has removed barriers common with most fare-free programs such as qualifying factors (age, income, etc), application process, a card or pass-this program allows EVERYONE to simply board the bus and go. Petaluma Transit | Ride For Free - Petaluma Transit \(cityofpetaluma.net\)

Staff will continue promotion of the Fare Free Program throughout the community in July 2024 working with community partners to help spread the word.

NO MATTER HOW YOU SAY IT - EVERYONE RIDES FREE ON PETALUMA TRANSIT

A partir del 1 de julio de 2024, el servicio de autobús de Petaluma Transit será gratuito.

Petaluma Transit has eliminated fare collection on all of its fixed-route bus and paratransit services as a part of a one-year pilot program. The pilot aims to increase ridership, promote Petaluma Transit's network of services, alleviate the financial burden of low-income riders, improve access and meet the rigorous climate goals set forth by the city.

Petaluma Transit notes paratransit passengers have historically not benefited from common fare-free programs. The initiative aims to use both fixed-route bus services and paratransit services for free, expanding access to those with fixed or limited incomes.

No application is needed to participate in this program

Bus services in Petaluma are now free. The city began a one year pilot program yesterday during which all Petaluma Transit services will be completely fare-free. No tickets, no passes, no cash – just show up and ride. Paratransit clients can schedule their trips as they have done in the past, but a fare will no longer be required for their Petaluma Transit paratransit trip. The goal of this program is to promote Petaluma Transit's network of services, alleviate the financial burden of low-income riders, improve access, and meet the rigorous climate goals set forth by the City.

As of July 1, anyone looking to ride Petaluma's fixed-route or paratransit buses will ride fare-free under a one-year pilot program — the first of its kind in the Bay Area, the city announced Monday in a news release.

"By removing the cost barrier, Petaluma Transit hopes to encourage more residents to leave their cars at home and opt for alternative modes of transportation, thereby reducing traffic congestion and the community's carbon footprint," the release said.

PETALUMA, CA — Petaluma Transit this week became the Bay Area's first transit agency to offer free rides to all, kicking off a one-year pilot program designed to boost ridership and remove financial hurdles.

As of Monday, transit riders can "show up and go," without needing tickets, passes, or cash to take buses and paratransit service. The move away from fares builds on earlier programs at Petaluma Transit, including free rides for K-12 students, which officials said grew youth ridership by 35 percent.

The San Francisco Bay Area city of Petaluma will offer fare-free bus transit as part of a one-year pilot program, according to reporting by KTVU. "City leaders say the goal is to help people learn about public transit, remove cost barriers, and meet the city's climate goals."

In addition, many other news outlets reposted the Fox 2 story, such as Yahoo! News.

Microtransit Update

Petaluma Transit has finalized the service contract for the software-as-a-service platform to be used for our microtransit service, selecting VIA. City staff have been collaborating with VIA to formalize the application, and we are currently 90% through this process.

Staff have been fine-tuning the color scheme, logo, and name for the service. This microtransit service will have a distinct look, differentiating it significantly from Petaluma Transit's fixed-route and paratransit bus services.

A final meeting with the Microtransit Ad Hoc group is scheduled for Monday, July 29, 2024. During this meeting, we will provide updates on the service zone, branding details, and gather further input on community outreach efforts. The contributions of this group have been invaluable, and we extend our gratitude for their time and input.

The implementation of the program is now scheduled to begin in Fall 2024 to avoid overlapping with the efforts of the Fare Free Campaign.

Petaluma Police Department Coordination

Petaluma Transit has been working with the Petaluma Police Department to prepare for the launch of the Transit Fare Free program starting July 1.

In advance of the program implementation transit admin staff has been working with transit operations staff (drivers and dispatchers) to identify various areas of impact and training needed prior to rollout of the program. City Staff held focus groups with drivers and dispatchers to determine what would help them to feel safe and supported. One such area was working with Petaluma PD to coordinated policy and response procedures for incidents that occur on-board Transit buses to ensure that safety is maintained for all involved and a top priority. To meet those needs and requests City Staff and MV management worked with PD to devise an SOP for safety issues on the bus. Lieutenant Parnow and Communications Supervisor Marie Horton offered to present the process at the June monthly Safety Meeting for operations staff. PD provided an overview of their policies and procedures for how they respond to incidents that may occur on transit buses. They also described the various types of support that they can provide such incidents, and answered staff questions about their policies and procedures.

Bridges Between the Public and Emergency Help

Transit and PD staff will continue to discuss the Transit fare free program prior to and during implementation of the program to ensure partnership and coordination throughout the program.

Fire safety awareness partnership with Petaluma Fire Department

Petaluma Transit is working with the Petaluma Fire Department to help spread the word regarding Fire Safety this 4th of July. Shelter posters were posted around the city at multiple bus stop locations to help spread awareness regarding the ban on fireworks. In addition, posters were installed on the interior of the Petaluma Transit fleet.
