Good Afternoon,

Thank you for your input. In response to Item 1 on your list, we do have an email subscription list to receive notification when the City Council and Planning Commission agenda packets are published, with a URL link directly to the agenda. Please subscribe here if you are interested: <https://cityofpetaluma.org/subscribe/> If you select "public meetings" then the list of all meeting bodies will appear.

Best,
Kendall

Hello to everyone! Congratulations on your election!

1. I find myself unable to participate in City Council Meetings because I find I have to go into the City of Petaluma City Council Agenda. It would be great if (and you probably already have done this but I just do not know about it) if the City Council Agenda and Planning Commission agenda items could be sent by email. A simple URL to redirect me to the location would absolutely suffice.

2. Petaluma needs a long range traffic plan. This cannot be done overnight as people have a huge chunk of personal wealth tied up in homes and businesses. Proposed development cannot be done properly without such planning and advance warning so that Realtors can advise home buyers of the plans for their neighborhood.

3. The General Plan needs to be untangled. While I know the goals and objectives end up in different order depending upon the circumstances. But those circumstances should not always be due to political influence. Rather they should be with a view to the long range growth patterns and traffic routing.

4. You now have a new Emergency Manager. In Petaluma, the term "emergency" has become nonsensical. For example assume climate change due to human activities will come to pass. Every single inhabitant of Petaluma will be impacted differently, will have different choices to make, and possesses different
